Practical Strategies for CE in the Midst of COVID-19

- A. Virtualizing a Live Meeting
- B. Approving Workplace Learning Activities
- C. Developing a Rapid-approval Process for a CE activity
- D. Support from ACCME

CONTINUING EDUCATION IN ACTION

A. Virtualizing a Live Meeting

- Choose a webinar/virtual platform that can accommodate your group size and helps you meet your educational goals.
Will you use video? Will you have small groups or breakouts? Do you need polling features?
- If it's a new platform to you, explore its features using the company's tutorials.
- Test in advance
Connecting remote faculty, recording, using webcams, etc.
- Send guidance to your faculty or facilitate the startup for them
- Plan a briefing before the session to confirm all faculty can connect and review your plan for the meeting.

Guidance for Faculty Using Webinars

Audio/Video/Connection:

- ✓ Circulate meeting guidelines if possible
- ✓ Join by computer even if just participating with audio
- ✓ Use a hard-wired connection, if possible
- ✓ Instruct participants NOT to join by BOTH video and phone
- ✓ Encourage headsets
- ✓ Mute when not speaking

On the webinar:

- ✓ Use video
- ✓ Use predetermined signals to facilitate discussion
- ✓ Use the chat function
- ✓ Consider using the pointer or pen / highlighter
- ✓ Have more than one "host" to ensure a back-up in case of connectivity issues

Guidance for Effective Webinar Teaching

- ✓ Choose a title that includes the problem
- ✓ Start with a case
- ✓ Include at least one decision point for participants to consider
- ✓ Limit didactic time & expand discussion time / Q&A
- ✓ Ask participants to type in what they learned in the comment box

B. Approving Workplace Learning Activities

- Consider the public health crisis as the ‘gap.’
- Consider the response to the crisis (including improved teamwork, communication, patient care) as the expected outcome.
- During this unprecedented public health emergency and because there are no current preventive or specific treatments for coronavirus infection, you could reasonably determine that there is no potential for a relevant financial relationship and therefore no need to collect disclosure forms, resolve, or disclose.
- Ask participants to self-report attendance, and potentially what they learned.

C. Developing a Rapid-approval Process for a CE Activity

- Decide on a direct phone number and office hours, or set up a web form. Communicate these to clinicians engaged in the COVID-19 response.
- Download the ACCME workplace learning form and make the form available to clinician leaders for their use in real time.
- Consider making it available electronically, including mobile.
- Reminders: No physical signatures are required by ACCME. Activities can be administratively approved without a committee.

Questions from Registration

1. What kind of content (topics, frequency) is most helpful for providers during this busy COVID-19 time?
2. Staff do not have the time to attend CME events right now; what are some other strategies to provide needed education to them?
3. Providing credit for point-of-care or spontaneous COVID-19 related case discussions
4. How can we manage commercial promotion or exhibits and commercial support for events that have been converted from in-person live to an online format?
5. We have to convert some of our Grand Rounds to virtual sessions. How do I report that in PARS? Do they need to be reported as a separate activity?
