

Reviewing CME Credit Data: Getting Started in PARS

Instructions

Below are some screenshots showing the licensee and CME activity data state medical licensing board staff can view in ACCME's Program and Activity Reporting System (PARS). Only CME credit that has been verified by the accredited education provider is able to be entered, so all data is primary source. At the end of the document, you will find screenshots of ACCME's public CME search tool, CME Passport. Physicians can also create a CME Passport account to track the CME that has been reported for them by accredited education providers.

Scan the QR code for a video tutorial about how to log in and view CME credit data for your licensees, or follow the instructions and screenshots below.
